- 12:00-12:45 p.m. ● Registration
Sheraton Denver Downtown • Denver, CO
- 1:00-1:30 p.m. ● Welcome and Opening Remarks
- 1:30-2:30 p.m. ● iGaming and iLottery
The Unlawful Internet Gambling Enforcement Act (UIGEA) was passed in 2006, giving the States the right to regulate gaming over the Internet. In 2012 Illinois launched the first iLottery in the US, and 2013 New Jersey allowed iGaming in the US. Today there are eleven states with iLottery and six states with iGaming. In 2018 the Supreme Court of the United States repealed the Professional and Amateur Act. Within two months, New Jersey had an operation live on their mobile, and now 37 states have adopted sports betting. Why did iGaming and iLottery fall behind? Why did Sportsbetting move so quickly? What can we learn about Sportsbetting growth that could help iLottery and iGaming? Join the experts on this panel to explore these questions, share some data, and discuss where the future of gaming is headed online.

- 2:45-3:45 p.m. ● Gaming and Technology Approval Process
Innovation is the cornerstone of gaming technology advancement. Gaming industry technical standards were written specifically not to limit the use of future technologies, yet applying these same technical standards to emergent technologies presents challenges and might require regulatory clarification or interpretive intent. This session will explore Skill and Hybrid Gaming solutions along with the technology and logic used to make game play decisions and ensure player fairness.
Moderator: Matt Toler, Manager Gaming Technology
